Here they come
Some are walking,
 some are riding
And some are flying,
 some just gliding
Released after years of being kept in hiding,
They're climbing up the ladder rung by rung.

Enter the young
They've learned to think
More than you think

Not only learned to think,
 but to care
 Not only learned to think,
 but to dare
 Enter the young.

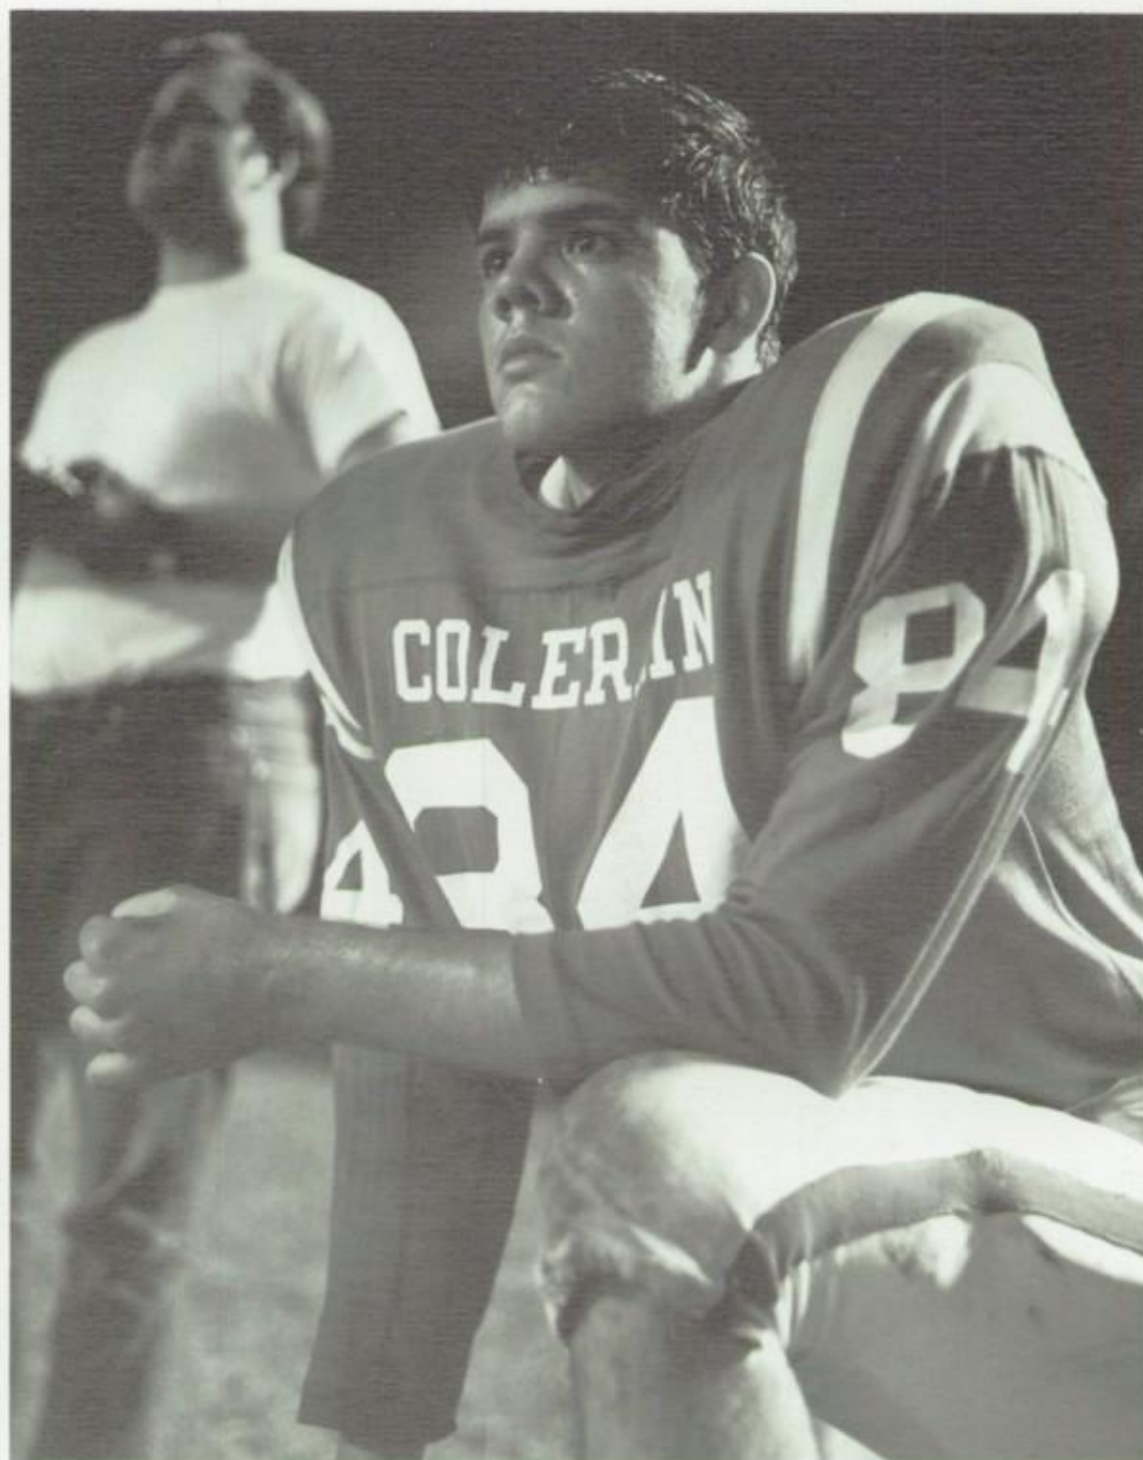

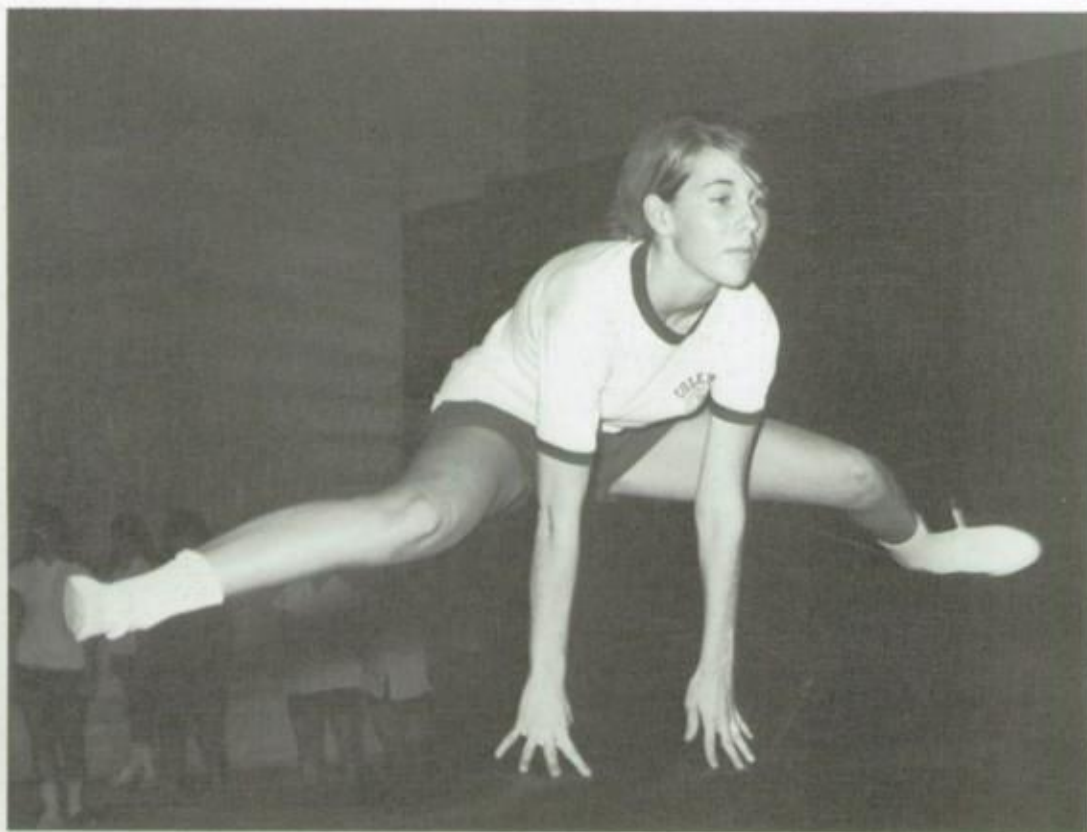

Some with questions
some decisions
Some with facts . . .

... and some with visions
Of a place to multiply without the use of divisions,
To win a prize that no one's ever won.

Here they come
Some are laughing,
some are crying
And some are doing, some are trying

Some are selling,
some are buying
Some are living,
some are dying
But demanding recognition one by one.

Enter the young
They've learned to think
More than you think

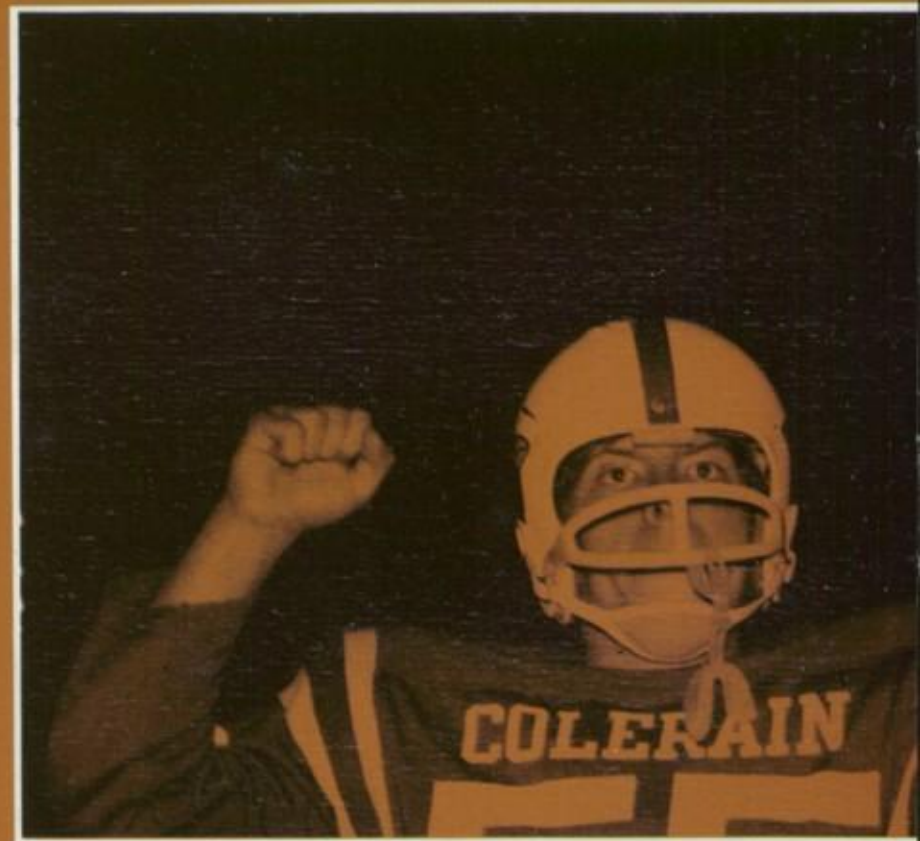

Not only learned to think,
 but to care
 Not only learned to think,
 but to dare
 Enter the young, here they come.

PRINCIPAL: MR. CARL BANKS

Mr. Banks pauses in his daily routine to speak with a few members of the faculty.

Mr. Banks addresses our incoming students at Sophomore Orientation.

The principle decisions are capably made

The office of principal is a thankless one, for here rests the responsibility of policy and decision making. Because Colerain is a rapidly growing school, both academically and numerically, it was essential that it have a competent, responsible person in the office of principal.

During the 1969-70 school year, Colerain was ably served by Mr. Carl Banks. Mr. Banks, who quickly adjusted to Colerain's life and activities, proved to be the competent, intelligent, and dedicated individual that is so necessary to the smooth operation of any school. By the example of his outstanding leadership and guidance abilities, Colerain continued to be a highly accredited school.

During the 1969-70 school year, Mr. Kern was kept quite busy with handling the many and diversified problems brought to his attention thru the Activities Office. The year's history found him giving directions to the student body through his position as mediator in the newly inaugurated "Open Forum" meetings, as well as acting as an open-minded sponsor for Student Council meetings and activities. Drama Club found him a most helpful asset to their productions throughout the year; Mr. Kern worked as a combination director-stage manager in "Music Man."

The interest and dedication he showed in carrying out the duties of his position gained for him the respect of the student body. His accuracy and helpfulness in handling all of the extracurricular activities were appreciated by all.

Assistant Principal: MR. CHARLES KERN

Mr. Kern and Renita discuss prospective plans for Football Homecoming.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL: MR. JOSEPH EPPLEN

With the ever increasing number of new students at Colerain each year, and the responsibility that comes with each, the office of assistant principal is not one to be taken lightly. Naturally, such growth represents the need for capable assistance in facilitating school operations; Colerain is fortunate in that Mr. Epplen offers this help. Mr. Epplen, who acquired valuable experience in dealing with young people through his previous teaching efforts, was a newcomer to the office of assistant principal the 1969-70 school year. His duties are mainly those associated with being disciplinarian; it is his responsibility to keep Colerain functioning quietly and smoothly in keeping with the maintenance of the academic environment.

Counselors

The Guidance Office is often the scene of much of the activity that keeps Colerain operating in its traditional manner. The crew of counselors, Mr. Eugene Hust, Mr. Kenneth Hacker, Miss Carole Cooke, Mr. Harold Gibson, and Miss Kathy Teipen worked daily to coordinate classes for next year, schedule and administer tests for college-bound students, and make suggestions on possible vocational opportunities. Frequently, however, students tend to overlook some of the other important functions the office serves.

Sally Bolte listens attentively to Miss Cooke's advice.

Aside from the usual counseling duties, the counselors also acted as a sounding board for student complaints on school policy. They are also in a position to offer advice on both personal and academic matters.

The counselors' aid in solving individual problems helped to create stability at Colerain. Students were fortunate that these educators were always available to help whenever the need arose. The problem somehow seemed lighter after visiting the guidance office.

Students trained for business world

The aim of the Business Department, headed by Mrs. Alice Breen, was to give its students the knowledge and skill necessary to hold a good job in the business world. In addition to regular classes, students could gain experience by using the office practice room or by working in the bookstore. Those in the shorthand classes competed for shorthand awards, based on the number of words written per minute. Several students also took the employment tests given by Proctor and Gamble and by Western and Southern.

The Distributive and Cooperative Education Programs planned their move to the new Vocational School in 1970-71. In their places, several new courses were planned for next year, including half a year of general typing and a course consisting of half a year each of business law and economics.

Social Studies plans new challenges

The primary achievement of the 1969-70 school year was the development of a spirit of cooperation among the teachers. Most of the year was spent working out a completely new social studies program, made necessary by the opening of the new vocational annex. Planned with the aid of the department chairmen of the junior high schools and the curriculum coordinators, the new program hoped to combine American History and Government into one course to be taken in the junior high. Seniors would then be offered varied, challenging choices of electives from several different fields. In order to help choose these electives, seniors were asked to fill out a questionnaire to determine which courses had most interested them.

Team teaching was again used in several history classes, and plans were made to expand it to academic classes in the future. As another experiment in new teaching techniques, simulation games, in which students may engage in war or imitate the legislative process, were used with several classes. Teachers from the department also worked with Mrs. Oehlschlaeger in selecting library books to be purchased for use with history courses.

Languages aid understanding

Mrs. Montgomery proudly displays some French puppets.

The Foreign Language Department, headed by Mrs. Dorothy Montgomery, helped students develop a better understanding of the people in other countries through the study of their languages and customs. The department worked to provide audio-visual and supplementary material, such as the language lab, and to achieve the goals set as standards by the North Central Evaluation Committee and the Foreign Language Consultant of the State Department. They also met with the junior high language teachers to coordinate their programs.

Expanding communication skills

The English Department strived to give students a thorough background in the skills they will use all of their lives: communication through speaking and writing in addition to the required literature courses, classes in speech, and journalism experience through the newspaper and yearbook.

A number of changes were planned to meet the students' needs and interests in English. New courses to be added in the 1970-71 school year include: Vocational English, divisional Senior English, and a one-half credit speech course. Tentative plans were made for a creative writing course and a World Literature course.

A three year course of Advanced Placement English, instead of Honors English in the senior year, was organized.

Math problems solved

The Math Department of 1969-70, headed by Mr. Albert Carver, continued its efforts toward giving the students the best possible background in an increasingly important subject in nearly every field of work. The department offered students a chance to take Introductory Analysis, a pre-calculus course, as seniors, and hoped to be able to offer calculus to fourth year students in the near future. Students ranking high in their math classes were given the opportunity to tutor students experiencing difficulties.

"Learning by doing" could easily had been the motto for the Industrial Arts Department for its students took part in projects ranging from repairing television sets to working on an assembly line.

The Graphic Arts' students printed tickets and programs for many school functions. This group was the only one in the department to move to the new Vocational School.

Woodworking students made picnic tables on a production line similar to those used in industry.

A new course planned in the curriculum for the 1970-71 school year was Occupational Work Experience. This course is designed to give students experience in the industrial world while on the job.

Students were able to display their works at the Industrial Arts Convention held in Columbus on April 15. Nine Colerain students were awarded prizes for outstanding work. This says much for the dedicated department.

Mr. Kaplan reviews student job opportunities.

The three basic goals of the Special Education Department worked toward were: to give its students occupational proficiency, to teach them good citizenship, and to stimulate personal growth. To these ends, the department, directed by Mr. Stanley Kaplan, used a program consisting of classwork combined with individual counseling. In addition, students received on-the-job experience in businesses in the community.

The Physical Education Department aimed at teaching students the habits and activities which lead to a lifetime of good health. The department, headed by Mr. Driscoll, stressed competitive and individual sports. Health classes provided the students with information on personal health care and with insights into themselves and others.

The department made plans to divide physical education and health into two separate courses in 1970-71, and to hold several classes in the Vocational Annex.

The Art Department gave students the opportunity to enlarge their artistic talents by working with varied media and by experimenting in related fields, such as architecture. Composition and other basic elements of art were studied, as well as art history. The department was responsible for the "Music Man's" attractive scenery and for hall displays which brightened the school for the Christmas season. It also kept a showcase filled with displays of the students' best works throughout the year including the winners of Shillito's Scholastic Art Contest.

Colerain was fortunate in having something essential to any school: a good library. Mrs. Oehlschlaeger and Mrs. Kolrick, aided by members of the Library Assistants Club, were on hand to help students locate books or articles on nearly every topic for school work or pleasure. Records and filmstrips were also available for student use. In addition, the librarians worked with teachers to purchase the books, audio-visual aids, and other materials needed for each course.

The Home Economics classes taught girls to manage a home in an efficient and thrifty manner. Students put their sewing abilities to good use in making nineteen flags for the Patriotic Assembly and sixty costumes for "Music Man." The department presented the Sterling Smiths of America award to Dawna Filbert, who was judged the most outstanding senior on the basis of grades and projects done in Home Economics.

Music for all occasions

MR. MICHAEL

MR. LEE SUMAN

Colerain's Music Department added pep to sports events, beauty to school programs, and color to total parades. The band, under the able leadership of Mr. Lee Suman, consisted of a marching band, which divided after the football season into two concert bands, and a pep band. The pep band added spice to pep assemblies and school programs.

The chorus, skillfully directed by Mr. Michael Hanning, continued to add to its record of fine performances. Choral groups from Colerain received a "1" rating at the District Contest at U.C. and a "2" at the State Contest at Springfield. The three main choral groups: The Sophomore choir, Girls' Glee Club, and Ensemble, were augmented by several smaller groups.

SECRETARIES: Mrs. Voegle and Mrs. Taylor

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR: MR. CLINTON YERKES

We get by with a little help . . .

As most students realize, the organization and administration of a school entails much paperwork. So it is with the duties of the administration; a weighty proportion of time must necessarily be dedicated to paperwork. Colerain is quite fortunate in that it has a reliable crew of secretaries to attend to such matters. By the concerted efforts of Mrs. Taylor, and Mrs. Voegle in the main office, as well as Mrs. Songer in the guidance office, Colerain is able to function more smoothly, more efficiently than ever.

Mr. Yerkes, who fulfills the many responsibilities associated with being athletic director, completed his fifth year at Colerain in the 1969-'70 term. With respect to his coordinating abilities, Colerain has enjoyed many well organized, stimulating sports events.

CUSTODIANS: J. Lantry, N. Boehme, D. Ross, W. Schon.

Necessary staffs maintain health standards

Necessary to the maintenance of the standards of Colerain High School are the cafeteria workers and industrious custodians. Preparations for the lunches of our immense student body were made by the lunchroom staff under the direction of Miss Lindner, the school dietitian. Aided by volunteer mothers, the staff also served and sold the lunchroom food.

In their efforts to maintain the cleanliness of Colerain, our custodians could be seen pushing brooms and barrels throughout the school. Sweeping up the daily accumulations of paper wads constituted the bulk of their work although other tasks were assigned to them.

Working primarily behind-the-scenes, these people were an essential part of the management of Colerain High School.

mencement while receiving traditional honors in the ceremonies. Through their excellent academic achievements, these two have shown that scholarship still reigns highest at Colerain Senior High School.

Honor triumphs at Colerain

Tutoring for students needing help is provided by the members of National Honor Society.

Plans for the new year were discussed at the first meeting of National Honor Society conducted at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Alice Pack, early in October. Held at the homes of the members, monthly dinner meetings ensued, often featuring guest speakers.

Local presentations of the fine arts were patronized by these scholars of Colerain. Club members attended plays such as "Charley Brown" at the Shubert, symphonies and ballets. Other activities included a musical at Mr. and Mrs. Glen Muegel's home on May eighth and a free tutoring service for the students of Colerain Senior High School.

An assembly program presented in May served to induct new members. Qualifying were those students exhibiting outstanding merit in scholarship, initiative, service and citizenship. Colerain bestowed one of its highest honors on the students initiated into this elite group.

exemplify academic ability

1970 brought Colerain High School the distinction of having eight National Merit Finalists, more than ever before in the school's history. Only one other high school in Cincinnati, Walnut Hills, compared to Colerain's number of winners.

The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test is a test program conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, an independent, non-profit organization established in 1955 by grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. It is offered to secondary school students to determine distribution of National Merit Scholarships. To become a finalist, students must score in a high percentile of the National Merit Test and have comparably high Scholastic Achievement Test scores.

The number of finalists is less than one per cent of the graduating seniors in a state, so their achievement on the National Merit Test exemplified the academic ability of Colerain's eight winners.

1970 GRAND AWARD WINNER:
HERMAN RODEN

Science Club, under the direction of Mr. Warren Dicken, again presented its Science Fair in April. Projects were entered in the categories of: Botany, Chemistry, Earth/Space Science, Electronics, Mathematics, Physics, and Zoology.

Following the Fair was Science Club's traditional Awards Reception, in which the winners in the seven categories were recognized. Climaxing the program, which included an interesting lecture by Dr. M.D. Frances of Proctor and Gamble, was the announcement by Mr. Dicken of Herman Roden as Grand Award Winner. His project, a computer, was in the category of Electronics. 1970 marked the second year in a row for the Electronics category to capture the Grand Award. Herman received a $25 savings bond, a trophy, his name engraved on the Grand Award Plaque, and a day spent in the industry of his choice.

The Science Fair and the Awards Reception proved to be excellent recognition for Colerain students' scientific endeavors.

Student Council encourages participation

The purpose of Colerain's 1969-70 Student Council was to help bridge the gap between the administration and the student body. To help achieve this goal, the Student Council held several open forum meetings during which the students were encouraged to voice their opinions on matters such as the dress code, tardiness, student behavior, and driving regulations. These meetings were conducted by the Student Handbook Committee. They helped revise some of the previous rules and regulations.

Under the leadership of Student Council President Bob Benedict and advisor Mr. Kern, the club once again sponsored the foreign exchange student, Dang Chareonsap. They also organized and conducted a patriotic assembly where several different American flags were displayed. This was the first time this assembly had been presented at Colerain and was established as a tradition to be held on alternating years.

Through all their activities, the Student Council helped to encourage all the students at Colerain to participate in activities around the school and to promote an understanding of our democratic system of government.

Displays arranged by Presidents' Council help sophomores understand club activities.

The presidents of each club at Colerain joined forces in a busy year as President's Council. Their main function was to review the student policy rules that were discussed in Student Council. The members of the club analyzed changes in the student handbook, put those proposed to a vote, and submitted the qualifying rules to the administration for action.

Organizing the annual Christmas assembly honoring the foreign exchange student constituted another of their projects. They also exhibited Christmas spirit through the various displays they arranged throughout the building.

Because of the club's importance in the student government at Colerain, each member seriously participated in the Council's activities.

Recognized and rewarded for outstanding work in the field of journalism, nine members of the publication staffs of Colerain Senior High were enrolled in Quill and Scroll. This international honorary society for high school journalists promotes clear and forceful composition; better-managing, editing, and copy writing; and scholarship among its members. Providing scholarships and grants, the society encourages talented members to further their education in the journalistic field. It also sponsors numerous writing contests and publishes a magazine.

Requirements for selection include: superior work in the field of journalism, such as writing, editing, business management or production; recommendation by a supervisor; and membership in the upper third of the junior or senior class.

Seniors received their gold pins, honor certificates, and membership cards on Senior Recognition Day, while Juniors were presented their awards at the Underclassman's Honor Assembly.

Through the introduction of this local chapter by Miss Cheryl McDonough, sponsor, students who traveled on the production of the Quill and Cardinal were recognized for remarkable service to the school.

"C"-Club: Enthusiasm and Spirit

Jane Blackburn was queen of "Zodiac '70."

Membership in Colerain High School's "C"-Club was entitled to any student that obtained a letter in athletic, scholastic, or extracurricular activities. The purpose of this organization was to promote school spirit and engage the interests of the students in school events and activities. Their leadership provided a united effort to bolster Colerain's spirit throughout the year.

Under the supervision of Mr. Gerald Hill, "C"-Club undertook the planning and responsibility of sponsoring both the Football and Basketball Homecomings. Their energetic and diligent work brought both events to a successful completion. Their effective planning of the Spring Sports Festival also brought forth another success. "C"-Club must be commended for its enterprising work in promoting school activities.

Beth Knapp types diligently in the main office while gaining experience in clerical work.

Volunteers for office work sacrificed their time in order to be the "low men on the totem pole." In the main office, the student assistants delivered mail; ran errands for Mr. Epplen and the secretaries; checked absenteeism; typed bulletins, records and business letters; answered the phone; kept the files; and ran off mimeographs on the office machines.

In the guidance area, the workers answered the phone, typed, and filed, but they had the additional duties of guiding new students and giving information on colleges.

For their regular meetings, their sponsor, Mrs. Henke, scheduled guest speakers to lecture on self-improvement, increased efficiency and problems encountered on the job. The office assistants received excellent experience in clerical work and job training through their work in Colerain's offices.

Be all you can be: Read

Becky Wyatt checks attendance while students study.

"Be all you can be: Read" was the Library Assistants slogan this year. The club's primary objective was service. Under the guidance of Mrs. Betty Oehlschlaeger and Mrs. Janet Kolrick, club members helped to keep the school library running smoothly to provide the greatest benefit to the student body. Library assistants learned about library procedures by shelving books, checking books and magazines in and out, keeping records and film strips in order, and helping students find the materials they needed. They provided behind the scenes services such as reading shelves, preparing new material for use, checking attendance, and mending books.

The club members kept library bulletin boards and display cases decorated throughout the year. In the fall, they financed and helped to serve the F.T.A. Faculty Tea, which was held in the library. Library Week was observed with special posters and a contest for the student body. The main event of the year was the Book Fair, held in November, at which paperback books were sold. Money from the fair was used to purchase library equipment.

NANCY LIVELY AND LYNN ROBERTS:
BUSINESS MANAGER AND EDITOR

The 1970 Annual Staff under the editorship of Lynn Roberts and advised by Miss Cheryl McDonough had the task of compiling the many events of the year into the CARDINAL. Each day the staff met sixth period to busily write copy, captions, headlines, crop pictures, and type pages for the book. Complete photographic and journalistic coverage was necessary to portray the activities at Colerain. Besides the actual work of the yearbook, staff members also spent time selling advertisements to finance it.

In all, it was a busy year for the CARDINAL STAFF, one in which all worked to provide an accurate cataloguing of 1970 at Colerain.

Part of Annual Staff's duty consists of assisting Editor Lynn onto the roof for pictures.

Quill expresses school news

The Quill photographer is always on hand to cover school events.

The 1969-70 Quill Staff found new and varied expression this past year through many original writing approaches and features. Under the direction of faculty advisor, Miss Sandra Murphy, the Quill achieved great success in journalism competition. The paper received second place in both editorials and headlines.

Greater student participation in production of the Quill has been encouraged by the journalism class. Among the new features which allowed students to submit articles and news scoops was the "Letter to the Editor" section. Increased student opinion and thought was beneficial to obtaining objective criticism.

The energetic efforts of the twenty-one journalism students resulted in an interesting and creative publication. Many new articles, editorials, and artworks provided diverse and informative reading. Editor, Chris Weishaupt, can be praised for her capable coordinating of the many aspects involved in production of the Quill.

"All the world is a stage . . ." at Colerain

The Drama Club at Colerain in the 1969-70 school year was a new club. In past years, plays were given by speech students only. This was the first year that any student in the school, including sophomores, could audition for roles in the plays.

The club produced "Around the World in Eighty Days" as the annual fall play. Under the direction of Mr. Kern and Mrs. Stager, the club spent many weeks not only memorizing lines and cues, but also painting scenery, gathering props, and making costumes. Then, following the fall performance, the club began a series of choral reading sessions during which the students learned proper speaking techniques.

The final and most important event of the year was the production of "The Music Man," when the members of the club combined their talents with those of the Music Department to present the spring musical.

The Drama Club helped produce "The Music Man."

Art Club stimulates creativity

Plaster sculpture takes skill and patience.

Art Club offered talented students an opportunity to use art room facilities for projects outside of class. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Margaret Hilliard, Art Club began the season by entering a float in the Football Homecoming parade. They also put their artistic abilities to use in the production of scenery for "Music Man" and "Around the World in Eighty Days." Because of the excellence of their previous Christmas displays, members were asked to decorate the display window in the front hall. Their "Santa's Workshop" was filled with clever Christmas gifts and decorations made by the members. Other activities involved several trips taken to various art galleries, including a visit to Shillito's to view the National Scholastic Art Show. Near the end of the year an art sale was held, selling artwork created by members of the club to other interested students.

Literary Guild meets to discuss works submitted for "Serendipity."

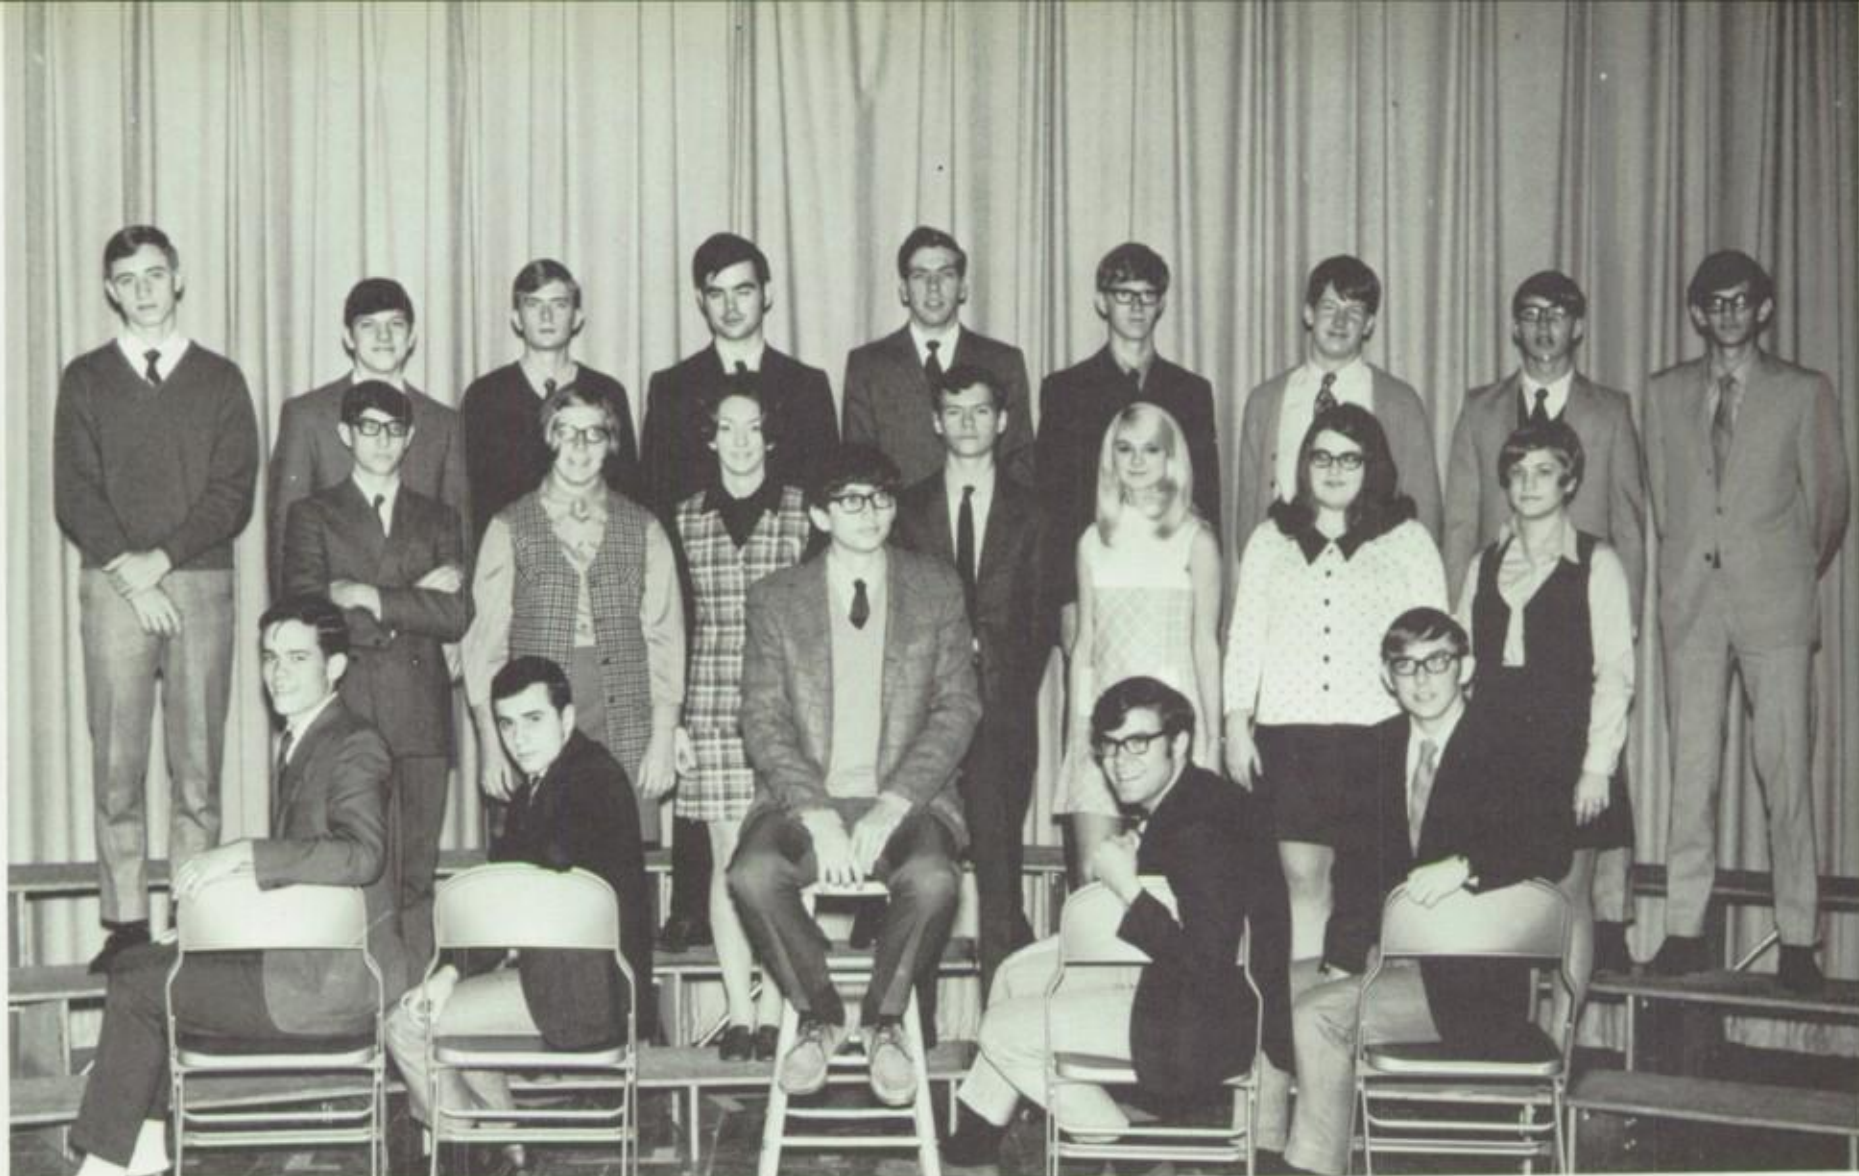

With Mrs. Mary Lou Davis as their advisor, Literary Guild explored the many facets of literary works. Club members met twice a month to hold interesting discussions on various assigned books and their authors. Not only were these meetings of great interest, but they were beneficial to the students' understanding and interpretation of literature.

During these meetings, the Literary Guild members also read and evaluated works submitted by Colerain students to be published in the "Serendipity." This annual publication contained poems, short stories, and art work and was printed by the industrial arts department. It was then sold to the student body giving all the opportunity to recognize the creative talents of Colerain students.

Students concerned with world affairs

Mr. Sampson and students discuss world problems.

World Affairs Club, with advisor Mr. Michael Sampson, held regular meetings during the year at which students who were interested in current events and the world's situation were given the opportunity to discuss the problems of today's life and possible solutions to these crises.

The club hosted many guest speakers during the past school year. A detective from the Hamilton County Narcotics Squad spoke to the members about the constantly growing drug problem. A representative from "Citizens for Decent Literature" gave the students a better understanding of civil liberties and how they should be applied in everyday life. The speaker in whom the club members were most interested, however, was a Viet Nam war veteran.

The 1970 Science Club consisted of students interested in the many fields of science. As their major project, Science Club and advisor, Mr. Warren Dicken, sponsored the annual Science Fair. The Fair was held in Colerain's gymnasium, giving students the opportunity to exhibit their displays and abilities and to gain the scientific experience that will be of great benefit to those continuing in the field. The displays were graded and awards were given to students with the best projects in each field of science.

The Science Club had as a guest speaker Mr. Laton, who showed interesting films on the Apollo 11 flight. Also as a guest was Mr. Rosavere, discussing "Amateur Astronomy." In January Science Club held a paper drive, the proceeds going for the sponsorship of the Science Fair.

Math: a challenge and reward

Contradicting the traditional conception of the student, the members of Math Club displayed a genuine interest in the language of the sciences. Guided by their sponsor, Mr. Albert Carver, lectures in the more challenging aspects of math were given by the members themselves. Topics included such subjects as the binary system, "magic" squares, Calculus, the slide rule, and high speed math. Mathematical games and puzzles were provided by interested students. Mr. Carver added facts about various number systems, geometrics, and exceptions to the rules. Guest speakers balanced the programs using visual aids to color their lectures.

On December eleventh 1969, a Roman Banquet was given by Latin Club. Candidates delivered speeches and the two Consuls, Scriba, Quaestor, and Aedile were elected. These offices, equivalent to presidents, secretary, treasurer, and program chairman, were filled in January, according to Roman tradition.

The week of December 15 through 19 saw Latin Club members peddling "critters." Proceeds from the sale of these imaginative animals went to the formation of a scholarship which will be presented for the first time in the 1970-71 school year. The first of the scholarships to be given every three years, will be dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Harvey Fangman, mother of an active club member.

Latin games, crossword puzzles, and charades occupied the members during their meetings. With the help of Mrs. Pack, their sponsor, the students also participated in a tutoring program. In conclusion, Latin students "came and saw and conquered" the challenge of the language.

German Club's mistletoe sale goes over big with students.

A study of German culture

With Mrs. Dorothy Wullenweber as their guide, German Club members toured Germany through educational experiences.

First and most important was their knowledge of the German language. This gave the members a background for their interest in Germany. A guest speaker, a member of the Nazi Air Force during World War II, related to them, through films and discussions, Germany's history, past and present. Other learning opportunities included a trip to a German restaurant in our area to acquaint students with the country's foods, and a Feinschmeckt — a German feast of cheeses, sausages, and breads at which the same time a sing-along was conducted.

At Christmas time they carried out an old custom with the sale of mistletoe as a money-making project. For German Club members, the year's activities proved successful in the study of a foreign culture.

The French Club sponsor, Mrs. Dorothy Montgomery, guided French Club members through another prosperous and profitable year. Past years have proved the club's success in that the 1969-70 club needed no money-making projects to add to their account. Instead, members were able to concentrate on the understanding and perfection of the language. Methods of study included films, records, and guest speakers.

One guest speaker, Bruce Sherwood, was a former French student of Mrs. Montgomery. He came from Kalamazoo College to speak to club members on the subject in which he has majored.

Proceeds from French Club's previous projects has lead to the establishment of a scholarship fund. Since the club has been so prosperous, the scholarship was again awarded. The 1969-70 French Scholarship Award went to student Lynn Frick. The annual French Club picnic consolidated the final activity of the club.

Spanish Club adds much to the enjoyment and understanding of the Spanish language to all Spanish students at Colerain.

During the 1969-70 school year, Spanish Club sponsored two candy sales, the proceeds to be used to send a Spanish student to Mexico during the summer. This trip was available to any Spanish student who wished to go. Those students interested wrote an essay in Spanish and presented it to the Spanish Club. Together with the Spanish Club a committee of teachers voted on the speech and considered the student's over-all grade average. Then one person was given the scholarship and will go to Mexico for two weeks during the summer where he will attend a Spanish school to become better acquainted with the language.

The 1968-69 scholarship winner, Teresa Townsend gave an interesting talk before the Spanish Club and told of her experiences in Mexico. At Christmas, Spanish Club held its annual Christmas party. The students provided the refreshments. Also, two students made a piñata out of papier maché and filled it with candy. At the party, the piñata was broken and everyone got the candy.

Spanish Club also has a Spanish Honor Society. The outstanding students in the second year Spanish classes were chosen to become members of this society. A dinner was held in their honor. Club sponsor was Mrs. Nancy Whitaker.

Craftsmen build for the future

Industrial Arts members must be precise in completing a job according to plan.

The Industrial Arts Club, entering its second year as an organization, provided an excellent opportunity for its members to display their skills. The craftsmen headed by Mr. Riefski, used their many talents in setting up displays, doing repair work around the school, and undertaking various building projects.

The young industrialists are gaining valuable practice, training, and experience through Industrial Arts Club.

Health Careers explores opportunities

The purpose of Health Careers was to acquaint interested students with careers in the medical field. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Rita Mulcahy, the club investigated various areas of the many faceted, medical world. The club viewed two movies, "The Good Ship Hope" and "Birth by Appointment," and heard an army nurse speak on opportunities in the armed services. Members visited Longview State Hospital on a field trip. In addition to these activities, many of the members did volunteer work in local hospitals and institutions.

To provide funds, the club sponsored a Valentine candy sale and donated unsold candy to an orphanage. They also raised money for the "Good Ship Hope." The Colerain Health Careers Club hosted the Inter Club Council on November 15. A speech therapist, a physical therapist, and an occupational therapist were present to give informative talks on their fields. The club was honored to have two of its members act as officers in the Council, which is made up of representatives from all Health Careers clubs in the area. Phyllis Bachman served as secretary, while Becky Devanney was chairman of the council's volunteer services.

Stamp and Coin Club was another newly organized group in the 1969-70 school year at Colerain. Mrs. Macey Buckner offered her services by sponsoring the club and giving them a place to conduct their meetings.

During the meetings, which took place once every two weeks, the interested collectors viewed each other's collections, traded, and bought various items from coin catalogues.

As a newly organized club, the group had only one major project. In February, the showcase in front of the library was arranged with a display of stamps and coins from all over the world which members had collected.

The club members anxiously anticipate a greater participation by the students next year as this popular hobby engulfs their interests.

"Cubs" introduced to news media

Columnist Frank Weikel, comments on his work to journalists.

Initiated and sponsored by Miss Sandra Murphy, Journalism Club had a most successful first year. The group attended two Miami Valley High School Journalism Association conventions. Several awards, including top honors in editorial and headline writing, were won at the conventions.

The aim of Journalism Club was to gain full student participation in the preparation of the school newspaper. Open to all students, it offered the opportunity of learning the techniques of journalism without taking a formalized course. Working as "cub reporters" gave students an idea of the various aspects of journalism.

Headed by President Ed Taylor, Journalism Club members had the opportunity of hearing several outstanding speakers. Columnist Frank Weikel and Assistant Women's Editor JoAnn Alvers, both from The Cincinnati Enquirer, were two of the more popular speakers.

The Journalism Club awarded a Journalism Scholarship to its most promising member, Bob White, who will serve as the Editor of the 1970-71 Quill. The scholarship, for the summer, is to Ohio University. The Quill should profit from the recipient's new knowledge.

Future Homemakers of America, directed by Mrs. Virginia Brown, is a club set up at Colerain to aid girls in preparing for homemaking after high school. In F.H.A., the girls learn the fundamentals behind cooking, sewing, decorating, and shopping to help them to be better aware of these things when they graduate from high school.

Some of the various activities F.H.A. undertook in 1969-70 were a baking contest and sale, a fashion show, and the sale of carnations on Cotton Day. Proceeds from the money-making projects were collected for UNICEF. At the end of the year, they had a banquet and picnic for the members.

The girls in F.H.A. enjoyed this club because of the practice and experience they gained which will be beneficial to them in their future endeavors.

Students train to be educators

The Future Teachers of America participated in many enterprising activities during the past year. Their main objective has been to provide valuable teaching knowledge and experience to the club members. Under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Meford, the many activities were coordinated to furnish a beneficial and interesting program.

F.T.A.'s many activities included the sponsoring and planning of the winter semi-formal dance, "Crimson and Lace." The club also prepared a teacher's tea in conjunction with Library Assistants. Their work on the club's Football Homecoming float earned them second place honors. Many opportunities to gain professional experience were provided by the teacher's aid program and the teaching day.

F.T.A.'s regular meetings proved to be profitable and entertaining learning experiences. Many of the programs featured guest speakers, panel discussions, and films. The active participation of many of the members was recognized by the presentation of the Meritorious Service Award. F.T.A. also sponsors a scholarship for a club member that contributes to the activities of the club and is planning to enter the teaching profession.

Students sanction school rules

The disciplinary rules of Colerain High School are enforced by the student hall monitors. The organization dedicates itself to the maintaining of order in the halls during classes and at lunch. Today they learn, tomorrow they lead

Future Business Leaders of America, under the guidance of Miss Linda Coffman, proved to be an educational and worthwhile club at Colerain in the 1969-70 school year. The activities of the year began with the building of the club's float, Noah's Ark. Then the members observed F.B.L.A. week, during which outstanding members of the club were recognized. The week was concluded with a Sadie Hawkins' dance, which enabled the girls at Colerain to "turn about" and ask their favorite boys to escort them to the dance.

The most exciting event of the year was the day when the North College Hill Frisch's restaurant permitted the club to take over the management of their establishment for an entire day. This enabled the students to gain first hand experience in business management and provided them with an opportunity to apply the knowledge and skills they had been trying to master all year.

To close the year, an awards banquet was held, at which new officers were installed and awards presented. Each F.B.L.A. member valued the experience he gained from his membership in the club and agreed that it had been successful in furthering his interest in the business world.

The 1969-70 DECA and COE chapters at Colerain were designed to develop future leaders for marketing and distribution and to promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free enterprise system.

Included in the year's program was the district DECA contest where eleven Colerain students entered competitive activities with ten other schools. Toni Makris was chosen first place winner in the Miss Ohio DECA contest, and Bev Dick received first prize for her free enterprise entry.

In April, the DECA classes, under the direction of Mr. Westrich, sponsored a booth at McAlpins' "Expo-Demo" show. The booth was manned by DECA students, and its purpose was to stress the importance of education.

The COE class, sponsored by Miss Winn, hosted the Regional Spring Leadership Conference here at Colerain in February. COE students hold various positions in offices throughout the district. In cooperation with the FBLA students, COE held a Frisch's Day at North College Hill where the girls managed all facets of the restaurant business.

Through Cooperative and Distributive Education students interested in the business world were able to gain knowledge of that field, and most important of all, learn and profit from experience.

Hi-Y — 1970 Basketball Champs

City Hi-Y champs display their winning trophy.

Hi-Y achieved many things in the 1969-70 school season. Their service and cooperation with school functions was appreciated and remembered.

The Hi-Y members served as ushers at open house and attended several YMCA banquets. They went swimming as a group to various schools around the city area. For those students interested in baseball Hi-Y provided and sponsored the "1968 World Series Film" after school. Though all these projects were worthwhile and interesting, the most exciting moment was not adventured until the winter season.

The Hi-Y basketball team, under sponsor, Mr. Fred Meier, prepared for the tough competition that would meet them in the city-wide Hi-Y Basketball Tournament.

Y-teens aid community

President, Mary Seicshnaydre, watches Y-teens prepare a Thanksgiving box.

Y-teens began the 1969-70 school year with the construction of a float for Football Homecoming. With the help of Hi-Y, Y-teens' red and white train with the slogan "We're trained for victory" captured fifth place.

Y-teens made Thanksgiving baskets in November for three unfortunate families in the community. They were taken to the families by Y-teen members and their sponsor, Mrs. Pauline Williams.

The girls made Valentine tray favors in February to give to bedridden patients in the Mt. Healthy Christian Home. The favors made the trays for these patients a little brighter on Valentine's Day.

The girls ended the year with their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet where the new officers were announced and installed.

All in all, the members of Y-teens led an exciting and profitable year of helping others in the community and growing spiritually because of their kind deeds and actions.

The game of kings was kept alive by Cole-rain's '69-'70 Chess Club. The club enabled students who were interested in chess playing to meet after school and challenge each other, and at the same time, work to improve their own game.

Under the supervision of Mr. Donald Col-ussi, the Chess Club gained valuable experi-ence from their regular meetings. The mem-bers of the club played several intra-school games. This enabled them to use their abilities and skills which they acquired from compet-ing with each other.

The Chess Club also belonged to the Great-er Cincinnati Chess League. This provided the members of the club with an opportunity to challenge players from other schools through-out the county. The many hours of practice proved worthwhile, for the Chess Team did quite well in league competition.

Proper cosmetic application engrosses the girls.

Tejas members at Colerain discovered that they belonged to one of the school's most useful and productive clubs. The purpose of the club was to aid the community in which they lived and to promote fellowship among their fellow students and friends.

The club was reorganized in the 1969-70 school year and put under the supervision of Mrs. Marlene Whitely. A trip to see the musical production of "Oliver" began the year's activities. At Halloween, the club made coloring books and presented them to a Children's Home. Thanksgiving time found the members buying turkeys and groceries for needy families.

A.V.A. members project help

A.V.A. students prepare for another day.

Mike adjusts a microphone.

It is a known fact that the best way to acquire a good education is through experience. Since actual experience was often times not available at Colerain, the students received the next best thing an opportunity to gain a better understanding of the material at hand through the experiences of others. This opportunity was presented to them through the use of tape recorders, films, slides, and record players. The members of Audio-Visual Aids, under the guidance of Mr. David Stephens, made it possible for teachers to use this equipment to supplement their regular classroom programs.

The club also proved beneficial to the school by successfully handling the lighting equipment for the productions of "Around the World in Eighty Days" and "Music Man." Many hours were spent on planning and memorizing cues, which helped make each performance run smoothly.

The knowledge and ability that the A.V.A. members used throughout the year proved successful, not only to Colerain, but to each individual member as well.

“... and the bands played on”

Both the Pep Band and the Stage Band have provided a great deal of entertainment at both assemblies and basketball games throughout the year. The Stage Band, under the direction of Mr. Suman, provided musical accompaniment at the Christmas assembly, the patriotic assembly, and especially at “Music Man,” which was the group’s main activity of the year.

The Pep Band was very active during the winter season, playing at basketball games. Although Mr. Hanning provided general leadership, student directors handled the actual directing of the band. Tim Huber and Mike Spangler were responsible for these positions. For this reason, Tim received the John Philip Sousa Award at the end of the year. This award is presented to the most outstanding and well-rounded band member.

The Colerain High Marching Band.

Students watch opposing band as they await their half-time performance.

The Colerain Marching Band, under the directions of Mr. Suman and Mr. Hanning, provided spirit and entertainment at autumn football games. The band's ability allowed them to participate in several local parades and to attend Band Day at Miami University. A major project of the year was raising money for new uniforms. This was accomplished by giving benefit concerts and doing other fund-raising activities. Many hours of hard work was a necessary effort made by the students to add to the band's performances. Precision and musicianship were a major part of creating this successful band.

The band plays a lively tune as they entertain during half-time.

CARDINAL BAND

Concerted efforts bring forth

Cardinal Band members practice in the auditorium.

The Concert Band, directed by Mr. Lee Suman, and the Cardinal Band, directed by Mr. Michael Hanning are two newly organized groups this year. Through a suggestion, it was decided to separate the band into two smaller divisions in order to have better performances and to take a heavy load off one director. Members of the Concert Band also had a chance to work with more difficult arrangements allowing more room for self-improvement. Tryouts were held for placement in the bands.

Although both groups performed at concerts, only the Concert Band competed at the District Contest. They received a III Rating. Three concerts were held during the year. A well deserved standing ovation at the Spring Concert showed the audience's pleasure with the students' work. Many types of music were learned adding to the diversity of the music department's program. Individual work to perfect their playing, allowed the students to add to the entire band's sound and performance.

Pride, practice, and personality aid in success at contest

Being a member of Ensemble is something that most sophomores in the vocal program use as a goal to reward their hard work and talent. Membership in this group is very select and becomes more so each year. For those who are members, a large variety of activities are in the year's program. The chorus constructs a float each year, and chorus' members are invited to help. Each group participates in concerts and school assemblies, at which the Ensemble sits in a cheering section of its own.

At Christmas time the Ensemble sings at shopping centers throughout Cincinnati. The purpose behind the carolling is the publicity gained for the group and its director, Mr. Michael Hanning.

Contest is one of the most exciting and rewarding of the activities. Chorus members participated in three contests this year. In February, many students participated in the District Solo and Ensemble Contest, at Miami University. Of 48 participating students, all 48 received medals for either superior (I) or excellent (II) ratings. The Ensemble also attended "A" District and State contest at which they received a "I" and a "II" rating. The Girls' Glee Club also attended the District Contest and received a commendable rating.

A new group was added to the music program this year. The Madrigals is a small group of 16-20 singers. Although it was an extracurricular activity this year it will become a class next year with the members singing both classical and popular music.

The biggest event of the year was "Music Man." Many students from the choruses had roles in the musical and everyone spent many hours in rehearsal. This event proved to be an appropriate finale for the year's activities.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Beth Smith, the Cardettes performed at all the football games and four of the Basketball games, which included Homecoming. They also marched at the Harvest Home Festival and the NorthWest County Fair.

The Cardettes entered the NBTA and the U.S.T.A. Twirling contests in the spring of the year as a small twirling team.

For their money-making projects, they had four bake sales and a corsage sale.

The majorettes added variety and color to all the games in which they performed during the 1969-70 school year.

Enthusiasm with a "P"

"Unity Among All Members" was the theme of the new Peppers' Club organized to promote school spirit. Cheering ability, dependability, grade average, regular attendance in school, ability to cooperate with other club members, and a record of good citizenship and sportsmanship were the necessary qualifications for membership.

One hundred in number, with an additional twenty as alternates, these girls sat in "C" formation at home games and encouraged victory. Their red and white monogrammed sweaters, coupled with navy, black, and gray skirts and knee socks distinguished them from other Colerain students.

The group practiced on Wednesdays and attendance was mandatory unless the sponsor was given a valid excuse. The members were also required to appear at all home football and basketball games. Miss Cheryl Gabe, their sponsor, did an excellent job through the club in promoting unity among the girls and school spirit in the student body.

Spirit jumps with cheerleaders

Jackie High adds support to the Varsity game.

For the cheerleaders at Colerain, practice started in early summer to get the girls ready for summer camp. Long hours of practicing on hot days paid off for the peppy squad won a "superior" and an "outstanding" rating while at camp along with the learning of several new cheers and humorous skits to add variety to the many pep assemblies they gave during the year.

During football and basketball seasons, cheering at Friday and Saturday night games were not the only activities the cheerleaders had. Every week they decorated the halls and cafeteria to illustrate the school's support for the team. February brought the annual "Ugly Man" contest to raise money for the Foreign Exchange Student and to send themselves to camp.

The sponsors, Miss Renee Parker and Mrs. Dorothy Wullenweber, shared the girls' interest in the teams and gave them the enthusiasm they needed to conduct good pep assemblies and lead rousing crowds at the games.

Practice precedes perfection

The Rhythmettes begin a performance at one of the games.

Precision and practice were the words that probably best described this year's Rhythmettes. With sponsor Miss Rabe and co-captains Joy Bartram and Diane Moon, the girls spent many hours marching with the band and perfecting routines to help make every performance highly successful.

The half-time shows at football and basketball games were not the only performances the Rhythmettes made this year. A parade at Harvest Homes in September, two performances at Xavier University, and participation in the Miami University Band Day were only some of the activities the Colerain drill team had this year.

Days and weeks of hard work were also spent on the girls' float "Jonah's Whale." Their efforts proved successful, when again in the '69-'70 school year, they climaxed football season by claiming first prize for their float.

Coach Dougherty's first season as head coach at Colerain was a successful one. His Cardinals finished with six victories, three losses and one tie. Experience and execution were the key ingredients to Colerain's success. The leading scorer and ground gainer for the Cards was Dan Windhorst followed by Dike Dastilling. Graduation will hurt the Cards, but the juniors, with hard practice, should make Colerain a contender again next year.

They finished fourth in the county, only six points out of second place. The Cardinals finished third in the district which qualified them to run in the regional where they came in tenth.

During the season, Mark Driscoll set a new county record of nine minutes and thirty-nine seconds for the two mile distance. Chris Wesolowski finished third in the county meet and sixth in the district meet. These boys, both juniors, will make the 1970 Harriers a strong team.

with a 13-7 record

The 1969-1970 Cardinal Varsity Basketball team finished with a record of 13 wins and 7 losses and showed great potential for next season. Coach Boyd started three juniors and two seniors throughout the season. The Cardinal Cagers started the season off slowly but picked up steam and reached their high point of the year when they defeated top-ranked Elder, 72-71, in overtime. In tournament play, Boyd's Bunch beat Lakota, 88-58, setting a new record for field goals made in tournament action with 38. Colerain bowed out of the tournament in the second round with a 68-63 loss to Talawanda. All players should be commended for fine efforts and determination throughout the season.

Once again, for the third straight time, the powerful Junior Varsity Basketball team captured the league title. Only three times did the Reserve Cards meet defeat, these being to Taft, Norwood, and Mt. Healthy, with only a few points deciding the outcome of each game. The Junior Varsity Team gained valuable knowledge and experience for the years to come. The team consisted of all juniors, with the exception of two sophomores. This and the many talents and skills displayed throughout the season, were the determining factors for the winning season. These young men will be welcomed greatly by the Varsity squad in the 1970-71 season.

Coach Raab's initial season with the Sophomore Basketball Team was a victorious one. The squad finished with a 12-1 slate and gained high respect from opposing teams. The Sophomore team showed excellent teamwork and ball handling as they, more than often, played the whole team. Experience and pure dedication will be all that is needed to make these boys valuable when they graduate to the Junior Varsity and Varsity teams.

Golfers look to future

Seniors teed off!

A fresh crop of new members and a lack of experience were a few of the problems Coach Ellert confronted. Although the season ended with a mediocre 3-10-1 mark, hope was not at all lost.

Captain and Most Valuable Player, Steve Schnebeli's long drives and strong chip shots often put Colerain in the lead.

The other two seniors, Gary Davis and Dave Hine, shot their way through competitors showing excellent form in the league tournament. The only junior on the team, Rick Hockstra, displayed a keen wedge shot and he proved to be an accurate putter. Rounding out the squad were the sophomores who will help the team tremendously in the future years.

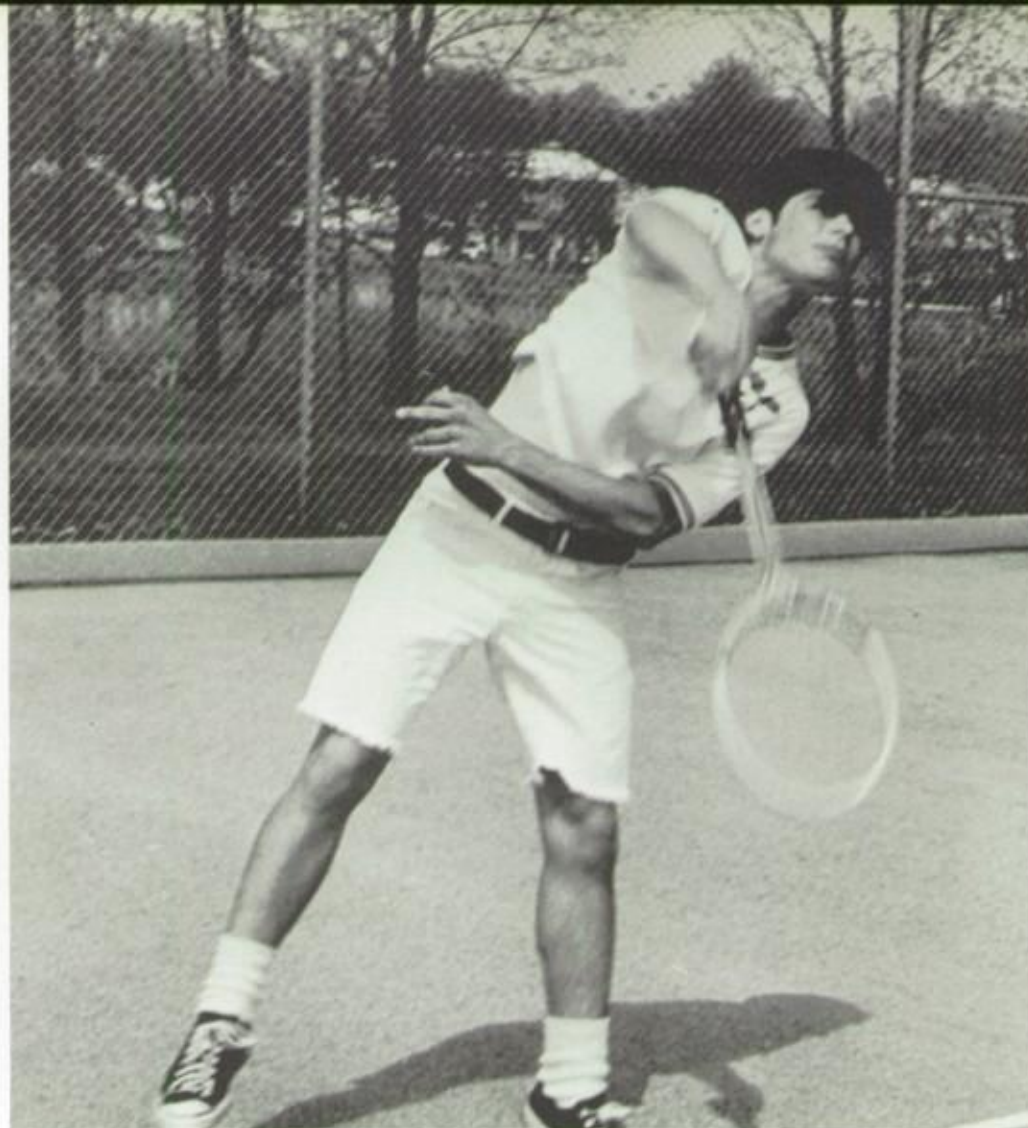

The golfers showed good poise and hit the ball well. The team finished sixth out of seventeen schools in the league tournament. They were eliminated in the district. They had victories over Reading, Princeton, and Lockland, and tied with North College Hill.

Weak racket work and a lack of experienced netmen were the problems Coach Nevels encountered in the 1969-70 tennis season. While the team finished with a sad 4-6 record, the season was highlighted by several strong performances.

Losing their first match to Hamilton Taft, they came back to defeat Harrison in a close 3-2 decision. Colds and stiff shoulders hampered them as they fell to Wyoming 5-0. Netting back-to-back wins against Reading and Lockland, the squad lost to strong and powerful Princeton. Meeting defeat the next two outings, they out-volleyed Mt. Healthy 4-1, only to lose to Harrison 3-2. Closing the regular season schedule, the Card netmen were one point behind Harrison in a 3-2 loss.

In tournament play, Harrison again handed the Cards a 3-2 defeat. The squad went on to serve Badin a smashing 6-0 loss. The Cards could not keep it going, ending the season with losses to Greenhills and Middletown.

Dave Johnson, a hard-hitting junior with a powerful all-around attack, was awarded the Most Valuable Player Award. He hopes to guide next year's team far.

Reserves finish with .500 season

Steve Daugherty prepares for another victory.

Coach Meier's initial season as coach of the 1969-1970 Reserve Baseball Team resulted in an even 7-7 record. His cry for young talent to come out was answered by a group of young men with the potential and stamina to compete.

Out on the baseball field the coach had his men working hard, running them through drills and exercises that would come in handy when the ball games got underway. Getting off to a fast start, the Cards won their first two from LaSalle and Oak Hills. Losing their next six games they came back to trounce Fairfield 8-1, followed by consecutive wins over Greenhills, North College Hill, and Fairfield. Losing their next game to Finneytown 13-9, they went on to win their last game of the season against Harrison by the score of 6-0.

The team was led by the pitching and hitting performance of Steve Daugherty. Steve's pitching record was a respectable four wins and two losses. Also leading in the hitting department, Steve posted a remarkable .477 average. The most distinguishing feature of the 1969-1970 baseball team was its desire and will to win. These ball players will be back next year and they will be welcomed greatly by the Varsity squad.

Coach Colussi's baseball team combined great pitching with fine hitting to compile a record of 16 wins, 7 losses, and 1 tie. The Colerain 9 finished second in the Hamilton County Suburban League and made the semi-finals in the State District Tournament. Colerain placed four men on the HCSL First Team All-Stars. They were: Tom Borgman, pitcher; Randy Evans, catcher; Tom Farmer, first base; and Kim Mack, outfield. Honorable Mention went to Roger Lyon, Gil Ruehl, Dave Engle, and Keith Willcocks. The team voted Tom Borgman as the Most Valuable Player, and Roger Lyon, Kim Mack, and Dave Engle as tri-captains. The leading hitters on the squad were Tom Farmer with a .357 batting average, and Randy Evans with a .338 average. Both will be back again next year. The top pitcher was senior Tom Borgman, who won 6, lost 2, and had an earned run average of 1.65. Colerain can look forward to another title-contending team next year.

Coach Geisen faced one basic problem at the outset of the 1970 season: he had a lack of experienced performers. So he relied on the undeveloped talent, yet skilled resources, of new men. In addition to this, the team faced a tough schedule with plenty of competition. So as a result, Coach Geisen ran his team through daily workouts and strenuous fundamentals. The reward for this hard work was gaining the valuable experience that they will need to win.

Veteran Coach Geisen's squad was sparked by sophomores Mike Guinn and Mike Bledsoe. Mike Guinn displayed excellent coordination and strong performance while competing in the high jump and hurdles. The other bright spot on the team was Mike Bledsoe, whose speed consistently qualified him in the relays. The dedication put forth by each team member made the outlook for next year a hopeful one. Like many spring sport teams, the track squad lacked depth. But Coach Geisen appreciated the way they put forth their best and was pleased with their progress.

The 1970 Cardinal Varsity Track Team, coached by Mr. Jerry Hill, made their strength felt throughout the county. The team, headed by outstanding competitors such as Dike Dastillung, Clarence Mallinson, and Mark Driscoll, finished third in the County Championships. The Cardinal victories were by wide margins, and their losses were by just a few points. The tracksters made strong showings in the County Relays and Harrison Relays by finishing third. Colerain finished fourth in the Colerain Invitational. The team should have another strong year next season with a number of juniors returning.

Last year Colerain's G.A.A., under the guidance of Mrs. Trish Covode, completed its most successful year. The girls' teams excelled in every area they undertook, fighting not only the other teams offense, but also the battle to prove women athletes can also be feminine. The club's Hockey Team, after their first year of play, ended up losing one game and ending one game in a tie. The Basketball Team completed the best season in the history of G.A.A., winning 7 games and losing only 1. The other teams ended with equally impressive records.

The club areas of interest are not only in the areas of sports as last year they had several bake sales, and numerous campouts in various resorts. The girls also produced a third place float at football homecoming.

Upperclassmen orient sophomores

The cheerleaders lead the sophomores in their first pep assembly at Colerain.

For most students, the switch from junior high to senior high school was an important step in their education and required a lot of changes to adjust to their new environment. To help these students, Colerain's Student Council sponsored a Sophomore Orientation Program to better acquaint the students with their new school and its policies before the regular school year began.

Again in the 1970 school year, Colerain's incoming sophomores were given an opportunity to become familiar with the school building and members of the administration. The program, which included a guided tour of the building, a pep assembly, and a social hour in the cafeteria, proved very rewarding to both the new students and the old ones who helped make the program successful.

Dang "orients" Colerain

This was our tiny Thai, Dang.

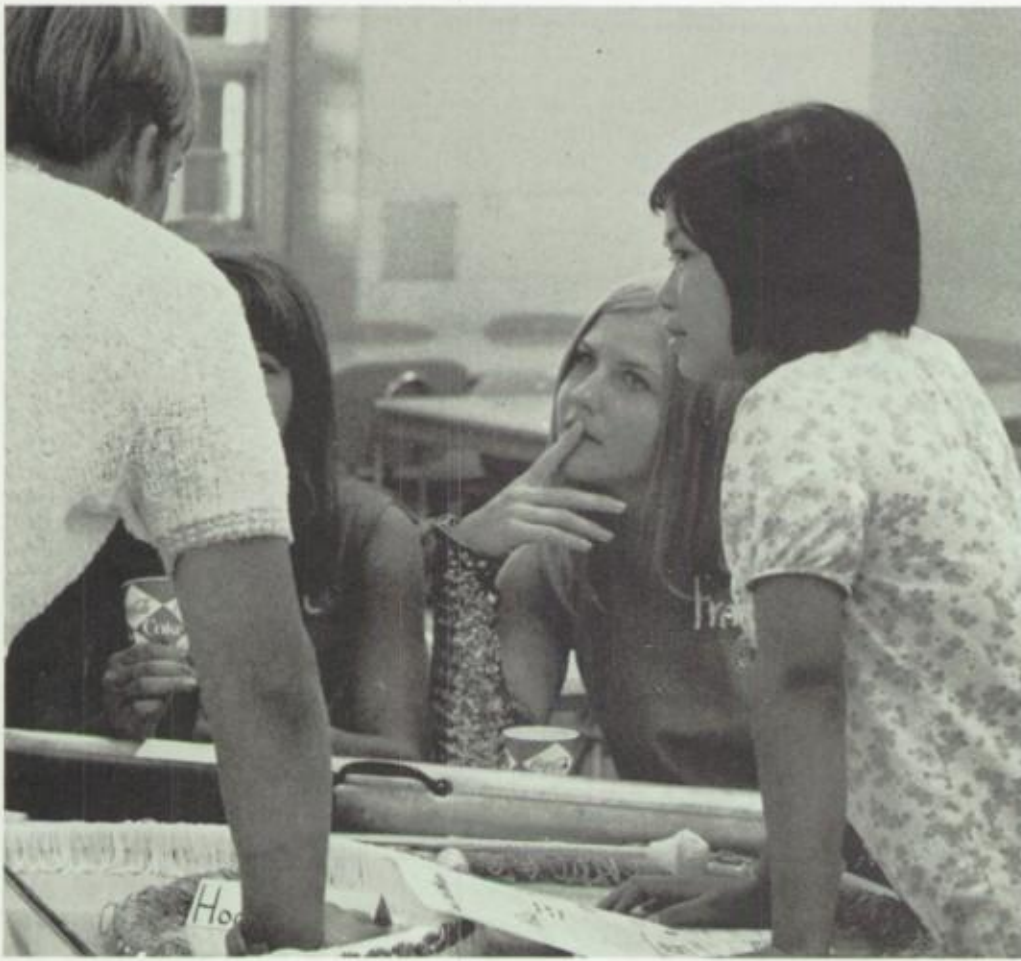

During the 1969-70 school year, Colerain High School was again honored to host a foreign exchange student. Praipan Chareonsap, Dang, a native of Thailand, was our four foot eight inch popular senior who came here to learn about American people, culture, and customs.

Dang's American sister, Phyllis Bachman, acquainted her with many new experiences including football, pop music, unchaperoned dates, Christianity, and pizza. Seeing snow for the first time was also a new thrill for her.

Seventeen year old Dang took the following courses at Colerain: Art II, French II, Algebra I, American History, and English. Her participation in school activities included Student Council, Peppers, and Teen Breakfast Club. She was also a lovely finalist for Basketball Homecoming Queen.

As a student at Colerain, Dang contributed much to our knowledge and understanding of her country, her customs, her school and her religion. We hope that she equally enjoyed her visit at Colerain.

1969 FOOTBALL HOMECOMING QUEEN: LYNN BURNS

Colerain's 1969 Football Homecoming proved to be the successful climax of many weeks of planning and hard work. Under the direction of Diane Moon as chairman, C-Club once again created a Homecoming program that was both exciting and entertaining.

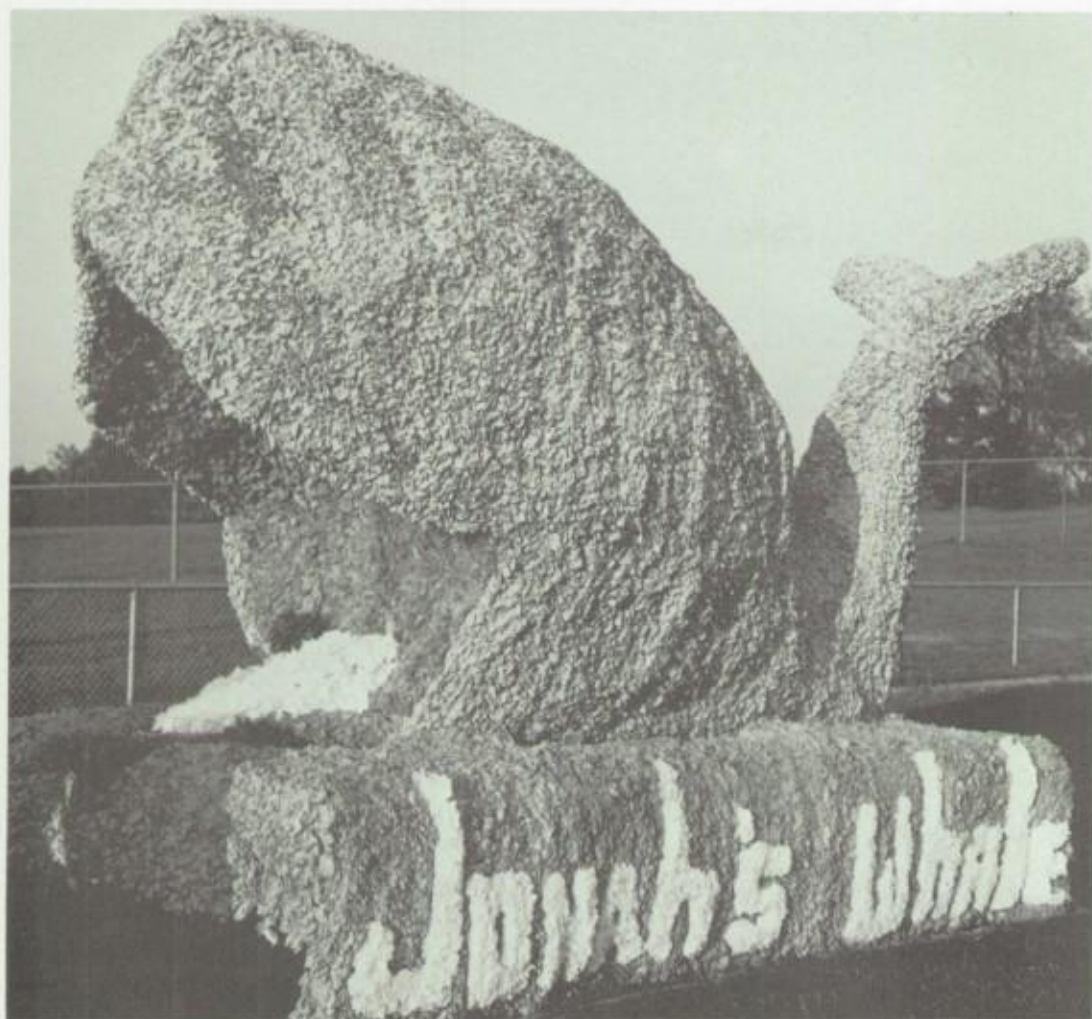

The half-time festivities began with a performance by the Marching Band and Rhythmettes, followed by the announcement of the winning floats. The first place honor was awarded to the Rhythmettes' "Jonah's Whale"; however, all of the entries can be commended for helping to "unfold the pages of the past."

At half-time, suspense climaxed as the sophomore candidate, Lynn Burns, was crowned 1969 Football Homecoming Queen. The Homecoming dance, honoring Queen Lynn and her court, followed a triumphant 28-14 victory over Oak Hills.

On May 22, 1970, the Student Council at Colerain made it possible for the students to become better acquainted with the duties and offices of the administration and service staff. Student Government Day, under the direction and organization of Jane Carmosino, allowed students to serve in the main office and guidance office positions.

To be elected to these positions, students were required to fill out a petition designating the office in which they were interested. Then a preliminary election was held which eliminated all but two candidates in each category. Campaigns began and finally the election, during which the student body chose the students they wished to serve as their administrators, was held. The winning candidates then worked alongside the school officials and, in this way, learned the daily activities of that staff member.

Many weeks of planning preceded this event which kept it running smoothly the entire day. Students involved agreed that the event helped them to better understand the obligations and fundamental tasks which constitute an administrator's day.

A colorful presentation of American history, told through the flags which have flown over its soil, was the format of the Patriotic Assembly. Nineteen historical flags, from those of the Vikings and early colonists to today's "Old Glory," were made by Home Economics students and Art Club members and were displayed as Student Council members told the story of each. As a reminder of our ties with other countries, the flags of the countries of Colerain's previous foreign exchange students were also displayed.

Dang Chareonsap, our foreign exchange student from Thailand, presented the school with a Thai flag as a memento of her stay. She explained that on her flag the color red represented the country of Thailand, blue, the king, and white, Buddhism, the major religion. As a closing, the combined choral groups sang several patriotic numbers. The program was written and directed by Mr. Kern.

The year of 1912 was relived at Cole-rain in the 1969-'70 school year when the Music, Art, and Drama Departments combined their efforts to produce Cole-rain's second musical, "The Music Man." The show involved two months of tedious practices, but it all proved worthwhile for all three performances were huge successes.

With directors Mr. Kern, Mr. Hanning, Mrs. Hilliard, Miss Gabe, and Mrs. Stager, the cast and crew worked many hours to perfect their parts. The result was a perfect portrayal of Harold Hill trying to sell band instruments to a small Iowa town, and at the same time attempting to win the hand of the town librarian.

Although the show proved to be a great deal of work, all involved agreed that the satisfaction they received from each night's performance highly repaid their efforts.

As usual, Mrs. Mefford is there to lend a hand when extras are needed.

Future Teachers of America can be congratulated on their well organized auspicious "Crimson and Lace." Weeks were spent in preparation of the sensuous crimson and gold decorations which created a romantic atmosphere encouraging Cupid's antics. Publicity, refreshments, election, and ticket committees also contributed to the Valentine success. The election committee held preliminary nominations and semi-final elections the week preceding the dance. The voting determined the candidacy of Greg Gauggel, Debbie Fletcher, Andy Ballauer, Nancy Taylor, Barry Dick and Ellen Hansert.

On February seventh, the large crowd attending elected Greg and Nancy the King and Queen of Hearts. At ten o'clock the royal couple was crowned, presented with gifts and danced to a special song played by "Sound on Stage." Proceeds were put in F.T.A.'s scholarship fund.

"Sound on Stage" provided excellent music for dancing.

Basketball Homecoming 1970 was the culmination of much preparation and hard work by "C"-Club members. Although the evening saw the defeat of the Cardinals by the Finneytown Wildcats, the festive direction of co-chairmen Pattie Stevens and Jan Alverson made homecoming activities both entertaining and exciting.

The long anticipated moment of the evening occurred at the half-time crowning of the queen. Senior Jane Blackburn, representing Rhythmettes, was proclaimed the reigning 1970 Basketball Homecoming Queen. The after-game dance, incorporating the theme of "Zodiac '70," honored both the queen and her court. Homecoming 1970 proved to be a successful climax to Colerain's basketball season.

UGLY MAN 1970: MIKE HENSLEY

Do pampers really keep you dry?

Creeping through the halls of Colerain during the week of February 9th were creatures of various shapes, forms, and sizes begging pennies from unbelieving students. The creatures were not new; they are a tradition of Colerain, because this was the week of the Ugly Man Contest. There were 11 participants this year, each uglier than the next. The finale of the contest came when Mike Hensley was crowned "Supreme Ugliness."

The diligent cheerleaders collected a grand total of $450 in their week of scrounging and begging pennies from the student body. This money went toward sending the Varsity Cheerleaders to camp in the summer, with the remaining portion going to the Foreign Exchange Student Fund.

1970 SPRING SPORTS QUEEN: STEVIE SCHUNK.

Participants in Colerain's annual Spring Sports Program represented twelve area schools. Competition in the hurdles, high jump, pole vault, 220, 440, 880, and the relays determined the winner of the First Annual Vince Mercure Memorial Track Meet. Oak Hills placed first, followed by Princeton, Taylor, and Colerain in a respectable fourth place.

The title of Spring Sports Queen was awarded during half-time to Stevie Schunk, the representative of Spanish Club. Stevie was crowned and presented with roses and a gold track shoe necklace by the presidents of "C"-Club and Student Council. Members of her court included Phyllis Bare, Dang Chareonsap, Sue Kays, Patti Mast, and Sherry Weisman.

Jan Alverson, chairman of Spring Sports, aided by Peg Bradner, Kathy A. Goetz, and Patti Mast, made the evening of May 1st a memorable affair.

Prom Chairman, Diane Hall, crowns Will McQueen the 1970 Prom King . . .

Seniors entered the ideal land of enchantment and splendor as they united for the last time at the 1969-70 Senior Prom. Camelot was the setting for the formal occasion held at the Cincinnati Convention Center. The dance incorporated the theme, "Dreams of Camelot." Chairman of activities Diane Hall, with the help of seven committees, worked long and strenuous hours since last October to make the prom the success it was. Entertainment was provided by the Skip Hayne's Orchestra, along with student talent. The senior celebrities participating were: Jill Schultz, Tere Moore, Sandy Hessel, Paul Kindt, and Diane Bauer.

At 11:30 p.m. came the climax of the evening as Will McQueen and Debbie Fletcher were crowned the 1970 Senior Prom King and Queen. For those who attended, it proved to be a memorable introduction to formal social activities.

. . . and Will crowns Debbie Fletcher, making her the 1970 Prom Queen.

Baccalaureate solemnity impresses seniors

Mr. Geisen gives fatherly assistance to a graduate.

Preceding Commencement exercises Baccalaureate instilled in the participants the solemnity and religious significance of graduating into the adult world. Held Sunday evening, May 31, a procession of the Senior Class ushered in with "Priests March" by Mendelssohn, initiated the ceremony. A choral invocation followed with "O Sing Unto the Lord, Alleluia" by Newbury.

Mr. Vince Costello of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Assistant Coach of the Cincinnati Bengals expounded on the virtues of sportsmanship and the necessity for teamwork in life's situations. "The Lord Bless You And Keep You" by Lutkin comprised the choral benediction while the recessional "Priests March" ended the evening. Accompanist Bruce Eichenberg and Choral Director Michael Hanning contributed immensely to the solemn atmosphere the importance of the event necessitated.

Seniors think about their futures at Baccalaureate.

Five hundred and fifty seniors sat quietly and attentively as the religious program took place.

Valedictorian Camille Schafer addresses the Senior Class.

Commencement bid

On a rainy June 2, 1970, well over five hundred and fifty seniors were assembled for their last function at Colerain High School. Marching their way on to the wet football field, spirits were not dampened. Camille Schafer and Georgeann Geers, Valedictorian and Salutatorian, spoke remarkably on their feelings and thoughts of high school and its importance. Mr. Carl Banks, principal, then turned the program over to Mr. Edmond Hammond, superintendent. Mr. Hammond, assisted by Bob Benedict and Terry Johnson, president and vice-president of Student Council, presented to each senior his diploma. With the last diploma received, the 1970 Senior Class became official graduates when they traditionally moved their tassels from the left to the right side of their caps. After a choral benediction by the chorus, the graduates marched off the field to the "Recessional" tune played by the Colerain band. The commencement exercise was the climax of an important step in their lives, as well as a student at Colerain.

To the Senior Class of 1970

The members of the Northwest Boosters Association Congratulate you on successfully completing your high school career at Colerain. We wish you the best of luck in whatever you may attempt in the future. The training you have received in high school will provide a firm foundation for your adult lives. We hope that we may eventually welcome each of you into the Northwest Boosters Association as active Colerain Boosters.

Sincerely yours,

NORTHWEST BOOSTERS ASSOCIATION

WISHING YOU SUCCESS IN ALL FUTURE ENDEAVORS

Afterword

Enter the young who have helped throughout the years to make Colerain what it is today. The students at Colerain have worked together as one giant team to learn, to experience, to grow, and to lead. Present here were those who will enter the world tomorrow to become leaders in their generation. This is what Colerain has done for us and the yearbook staff sincerely hopes that we have shown these numerous achievements of all those present at Colerain this past year in the publication of the 1970 CARDINAL.

THE 1970 CARDINAL STAFF

Faculty Advisor..... Cheryl McDonough
Editor-in-Chief..... Lynn Roberts
Business Manager..... Nancy Lively
Sports Editor..... Dan Oliver
Staff Members..... Gayle Bross,
Ann Cavanaugh, Connie Distler, Kathy Lind, Jeff McDowell,
